Business Directory

While visiting with us, we encourage you to support our Native American Indian owned and operated businesses, and our locally owned business that serve that Native American Indian communities and that adjoin our communities and historic sites. Support our local businesses...

The South Carolina American Indian Business Directory is a creation and publication of Eastern Cherokee, Southern Iroquois & United Tribes of South Carolina, Inc. in collaboration with the SC American Indian Chamber of Commerce. The purpose of this Directory is to meet the information needs of the Native American Indian business community throughout the state and the general public.

The S.C. Native American Indian Business Directory is a listing of Indian business owners and agents, grouped into three sections: the Upstate; the Midlands; and Coastal. This listing enables one to find the type of business services needed that is Native American Indian owned or operated. This makes this Directory a unique reference book for the entire Native community throughout the state.

The Directory also has a section with businesses that SERVE Native American Indian individual people and communities in South Carolina and those businesses that want to serve and do business with Native American Indian tribal communities. This includes states and federal agencies and national organizations.

Obviously the SC Native American Indian Business Directory is never complete or finished. The Directory is a living document reflecting the tremendous growth of this community. Our goal at Eastern Cherokee, Southern Iroquois & United Tribes of South Carolina, is to update this listing regularly.

This listing is the result of collecting this business information from the Native American Indian tribal communities, individual Native American Indian business owners and the surrounding municipals and counties that are adjacent to our Native American Indian communities. This is the culmination of a full year of collecting this information in a project funded in part by the SC Competative Grants Program and South Carolina Budget Control Board. The Small Business Administration (SBA) Firm Profile data was also used to identify businesses that have identified themselves as Native American and Minority Businesses.

PHARMANEX

She's not just a dentist...

Dr. Felicia Goins is passionate about serving her community, and she is committed to making a difference in the lives of her patients. She takes an active interest in education, and takes the time to talk with each child about what they want to be when they grow up. Many of her teenage patients talk with her about their college plans, and those who want to become dentists job shadow in her practice. She serves on the boards of numerous community organizations and is the Mom to her own terrific teenager. And she's the best friend your child's teeth will ever have!

At Carolina Children's Dentistry, our philosophy focuses on dental prevention through education and early treatment. We serve our patients with the best possible care in dental health by early detection and treatment. Teaching children to develop good dental hygiene habits and nutritional choices is our top goal. And, we do it all in a fun and relaxing environment that provides a special experience for both children and their parents!

Bureau of Indian Affairs

United States Department of the Interior
1849 C Street, NW
Washington, DC 20240

The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) responsibility is the administration and management of 55.7 million acres of land held in trust by the United States for American Indians, Indian tribes, and Alaska Natives. There are 562 federal recognized tribal governments in the United States. Developing forestlands, leasing assets on these lands, directing agricultural programs, protecting water and land rights, developing and maintaining infrastructure and economic development are all part of the agency's responsibility. In addition, the Bureau of Indian Affairs provides education services to approximately 48,000 Indian students. There is only one federally recognized tribe in the state of South Carolina, The Catawba Indian Nation. Many of the Native American Indian groups and tribes in South Carolina are presently pursuing federal recognition.

South Carolina Minority Affairs Commission

6904 North Main Street, Suite 107
Columbia, SC 29203
Phone: 803. 333.9621
Fax: 803.333.9627

The South Carolina Commission for Minority Affairs was created to provide the citizenry with a single point of contact for information regarding the State's minority population including Native American Indians, Asian Americans, Hispanic-Latino Americans and African Americans. Minorities constitute 31.0 percent of the State's population with African Americans representing 96.1 percent of all minorities in the State of South Carolina. It is the responsibility of the Commission to study the causes and effects of the socioeconomic deprivation facing minorities and work to implement initiatives to alleviate such deprivation. With the help of grassroots volunteers from across the State, the Commission assesses the problems plaguing the minority population, recommends alternative solutions for resolving problems, and prepares for the distribution of factual information to be used in shaping new public policies and local initiatives. The South Carolina Code of Laws Section 1-31-40(A)(10) provides the Commission for Minority Affairs the authority to promulgate regulations as may be necessary regarding the State Recognition of Native American Indian entities in the state of South Carolina. Formal Acknowledgment of State Recognition is the responsibility of the SC Commission of Minority Affairs and the Board of the Commission. The State of South Carolina's Native American Indian Advisory Committee operates to advise this commission regarding Native American Indian Affairs. The State Recognition Review Committee also operates in tandem with CMA and serves the Commission of Minority Affairs. Participation on the Advisory Committee and the Recognition Review Committee is mandated by state law.

On October 4, 1968, the Eastern Band of Cherokees, the Mississippi Band of Choctaws, the Miccosukee Tribe and the Seminole Tribe of Florida met in Cherokee, North Carolina with the shared idea that some form of unity between the Tribes would facilitate their dealings with the federal government. The result of their vision of "Strength in Unity," was the inter-tribal council United Southeastern Tribes. Incorporated in 1969, United Southeastern Tribes operated first out of Emery University in Atlanta, Georgia, and then moved to Sarasota, Florida. In 1975 it relocated again to Nashville, Tennessee, where it resides today. The organization changed its named in 1978 to United South and Eastern Tribes, Inc. to better reflect its membership, as federally recognized Tribes from Maine, to Florida, to Texas affiliated themselves with the organization. Today, United South and Eastern Tribes, Inc. is a non-profit, inter-tribal organization that collectively represents its member Tribes at the regional and national level. USET has grown to include twenty-four federally recognized Tribes, operating through various workgroups and committees and providing a forum for the exchange of ideas and information amongst Tribes, agencies and governments. USET is dedicated to promoting Indian leadership, improving the quality of life for American Indians, and protecting Indian rights and natural resources on tribal lands. Although its guiding principle is unity, USET plays a major role in the self-determination of all its member Tribes by working to improve the capabilities of Tribal governments.

National Congress of American Indians

1301 Connecticut Ave NW, Suite 200,
Washington D.C. 20036
Phone: 202.466.7767
Email: ncai@ncai.org

The NCAI was founded in 1944 in response to termination and assimilation policies that the United States forced upon the tribal governments in contradiction of their treaty rights and status as sovereigns. NCAI stressed the need for unity and cooperation among tribal governments for the protection of their treaty and sovereign rights. Since 1944, the National Congress of American Indians has been working to inform the public and Congress on the governmental rights of American Indians and Alaska Natives. NCAI has grown over the years from its modest beginnings of 100 people to include 250 member tribes from throughout the United States. Now serving as the major national tribal government organization, NCAI is positioned to monitor federal policy and coordinated efforts to inform federal decisions that affect tribal government interests. Now as in the past, NCAI serves to secure for Native Americans and their descendants the rights and benefits to which they are entitled; to enlighten the public toward the better understanding of the Indian people; to preserve rights under Indian treaties or agreements with the United States; and to promote the common welfare of the American Indians and Alaska Natives.
